PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

As I read through the pages of this Annual Report, I was reminded repeatedly of the great value of this institution as a convener of ideas, a gathering place, a crucible of intellectual engagement, the natural world, and beauty. I walk through the grounds on any given day and see scholars in conversation, school children, couples, extended families, whole groups of people from every background, all connecting with each other and our collections. We are dynamic, vibrant, relevant.

I was not president during the period of this Annual Report, but in the short time I have been at The Huntington, I've been awed by the deep commitment of all involved here, the camaraderie among the staff, volunteers, and leadership, and the quality of the work that results. During this report period, for example, The Huntington presented the major exhibition "Visual Voyages," a tour-de-force for the co-curators, to be sure, but a cross-institutional collaboration in its own right that involved dozens of staff from nearly every department and division. The acclaimed exhibition included both Art and Library materials as well as major international loans; but there were three related exhibitions in the Botanical Center, the Scott Galleries, and the Huntington Art Gallery, as well as a beautiful display garden planted outside the main show in the Boone, replete with botanical specimens—even pineapple—depicted in the main show. A mighty cadre of our volunteers helped interpret the exhibition for the public and school students. And our financial supporters—multiple individuals and foundations—made it all possible.

Now, as we venture toward our Centennial year (The Huntington was founded in 1919), we are taking a moment to look back at the past 100 years but also forward, considering our role as a leader in the cultural fabric of Southern California and beyond. We are thinking carefully about our mission, and what it means to be among the oldest cultural and intellectual centers in this great region, which itself reflects the dynamic demographic evolution of our state and country. To be sure, we serve scholars and school children, along with the 700,000-plus individuals who visit each year. We are in partnership with dozens of organizations, from small community groups to major universities. And we constantly look for innovative ways to have an impact and to attract new participants and audiences to our programs as well as our collections. The growth of those collections, what role technology might play to improve access to them and to our institution at large, and how we continue to evolve and yet keep our authenticity at the center of it all are among the issues we are considering as we move forward.

We are strong, vital, and on the move, ready to launch our second century. Thank you for your deep commitment to The Huntington that has enabled us to dream, and dream big. With your help, we will continue to do exactly that.

—Karen R. Lawrence

COLLECTIONS

Exhibitions this year ranged from small, concentrated installations to a sweeping international show that encompassed all three of The Huntington's collecting areas. In the first category, audiences contemplated celestial wonders through the rare lithographs of artist and astronomer Étienne Léopold Trouvelot and earth-bound delights in a display of 18th-century botanical drawings.

In the second, the gorgeous exhibition “Visual Voyages: Images of Latin American Nature from Columbus to Darwin” stood out in many regards. As part of the Getty's Pacific Standard Time: LA/LA initiative, “Visual Voyages” introduced audiences to new understandings of Latin American natural phenomena from a range of cultural perspectives; it drew from the institution's library, art, and botanical collections, as well as from dozens of other collections from around the world through an ambitious loan program. Some objects among the more than 150 paintings, rare books, illustrated manuscripts, prints, and drawings were on view in the United States for the first time. The exhibition extended to the Rose Hills Foundation Conservatory for Botanical Science, where plants native to Latin America—orchids, cacao, and vanilla among them—were highlighted for visitors.

In 2018, remarkable gifts enhanced The Huntington's collections in significant ways. The donation of a trove of thousands of valentines and related material augmented holdings in 19th-century visual culture and social history. Considered the best private collection of its kind in the world, the Nancy and Henry Rosin Collection of Valentine, Friendship, and Devotional Ephemera contains more than 12,000 greeting cards, sentimental notes, folk-art drawings, and other tokens of affection that trace the evolution of European and American romantic and religious keepsakes from the mid-1600s to 1970. The gift landed the institution on a New York Times section front, with an extensively illustrated story on Valentine's Day 2018. The collection is a gift from Robert and Belle Rosin.

The gift of a major collection of graphic art by Henry Moore (1898–1986) placed The Huntington among the largest repositories in North America of works by the prominent British sculptor. The Henry Moore Collection, a gift of the Philip and Muriel Berman Foundation, contains about 330 works on paper that represent the full range of the artist's graphic work. Composed mainly of limited-edition etchings and lithographs, these intricate works explore the same universal themes found in Moore's monumental sculptures. An exhibition drawn from the collection, "Spirit and Essence, Line and Form: The Graphic Work of Henry Moore," introduced audiences to an aspect of British art new to The Huntington.

In the Huntington Art Gallery, one famous resident took a necessary leave of absence while an exotic guest generated excitement. Thomas Gainsborough's The Blue Boy went off view from August through October as it underwent preliminary technical analysis for a thorough conservation scheduled for fall 2018. Meanwhile, George Stubbs' Zebra (1792), on loan from the Yale Center for British Art, engaged visitors for both its technical flair and the story behind the animal.

The Huntington Art Gallery's grand staircase, a critical space in an important structure that houses the institution's European art collection, was transformed with a historically accurate renovation true to the Gilded Age origins of Henry and Arabella Huntington's Beaux-Arts home. The multi-year process, now complete, included the installation of custom-made silk damask drapes and a specially woven carpet.

EXHIBITION HIGHLIGHTS

Visual Voyages: Images of Latin American Nature from Columbus to Darwin
Sept. 16, 2017–Jan. 8, 2018

MaryLou and George Boone Gallery

A sweeping international loan exhibition explored the depiction of the natural world in Latin America and the ways indigenous peoples, Spanish Americans, and Europeans contributed to art and science during the first truly global era between 1492 and 1859. "Visual Voyages" featured paintings, rare books, manuscripts, prints, and drawings from The Huntington's library, art, and botanical holdings and from dozens of other museums and private collections. Among them were two large-scale maps painted by indigenous artists in Mexico and Guatemala; a volume from the Florentine Codex, a 16th-century Mexican manuscript on loan from the Laurentian Library in Florence; and a spectacular feather cape created by the Tupinambá people of Brazil in the 17th century. Among The Huntington's art holdings on display were Frederic Edwin Church's monumental painting Chimborazo (1864), depicting a Latin American landscape part real and part imaginary.

The exhibition was part of the Getty's Pacific Standard Time: LA/LA initiative, an exploration of Latin American and Latinx art that involved more than 70 arts institutions across Southern California. Major support for this exhibition was provided through grants from the Getty Foundation. Additional generous support was provided by Scott Jordan, Sharon and John Light, Laura and Carlton Seaver, The Gladys Krieble Delmas Foundation, the Ahmanson Foundation Exhibition

The Reformation

Oct. 28, 2017–Feb. 26, 2018 | Library, West Hall

To mark the 500th anniversary of the Reformation, The Huntington mounted an exhibition that explored the power of the written word to bring about radical change. Items on display included a 1514 papal indulgence (a remission of the punishment of sin), a rare printed book containing annotations by Martin Luther, early 16th-century prints by Albrecht Dürer, and the original 1573 manuscript proclamation, signed by Queen Elizabeth I, requiring the use of the Book of Common Prayer.

Frederick Hammersley: To Paint without Thinking

Oct. 21, 2017–Jan. 22, 2018 | Virginia Steele Scott Galleries of American Art, Susan and Stephen Chandler Wing

An exhibition focused on American abstract artist Frederick Hammersley (1919–2009) showcased his sketchbooks, notebooks, inventories, and vibrant color swatches to illuminate the painstaking process the artist used to create his hard-edge geometric paintings. This was the first post-war art exhibition originated by The Huntington to travel; its second venue was the New Mexico Museum of Art, Santa Fe (May 25, 2018–Sept. 9, 2018). The exhibition at The Huntington received support from the Frederick Hammersley Foundation and the Susan and Stephen Chandler Exhibition Endowment.

In Pursuit of Flora: 18th-Century Botanical Drawings from The Huntington's Art Collections

Oct. 28–Feb. 19, 2018 | Huntington Art Gallery

From lusciously detailed drawings of fruit and flowers by Georg Dionysius Ehret (1708–1770), a collaborator of Swedish botanist Carl Linnaeus, to depictions of more exotic examples by British botanical artist Matilda Conyers (1753–1803), the exhibition revealed the 18th-century European appreciation for the beauty of the natural world at a time when botanical illustration became an essential tool of recording natural history.

COLLECTION/S: WCCW/five at The Huntington

Nov. 18, 2017–Feb. 12, 2018 | Virginia Steele Scott Galleries of American Art

The Huntington presented the second year of its contemporary arts initiative known as /five, which pairs the institution with five different cultural organizations over five years to explore a diverse range of themes related to the collections. In this iteration, The Huntington partnered with the Los Angeles-based nonprofit Women's Center for Creative Work (WCCW). Seven artists—Olivia Chumacero, Sarita Dougherty, Jheanelle Garriques, Zya S. Levy, Kiki Loveday, Soyoung Shin, and Juliana Wisdom—produced works that included ceramics, tapestry art, site-specific installations, readings, and performance and media-based art. This exhibition received support from the Cheng Family Foundation and the Pasadena Art Alliance.

George Stubbs' *Zebra

Feb. 3–April 30, 2018 | Huntington Art Gallery

On loan from the Yale Center for British Art, George Stubbs' Zebra (1792), one of the earliest in a series of paintings of exotic animals produced by the British artist, captivated visitors while on view in the Huntington Art Gallery.

Radiant Beauty: E. L. Trouvelot's Astronomical Drawings

April 28–July 30, 2018 | Library, West Hall

A rare set of exquisite chromolithographs based on the pastel drawings of planets, comets, eclipses, and other celestial wonders by artist and astronomer Étienne Léopold Trouvelot (1827–1895) dazzled audiences with his sublime melding of scientific observation and artistic talent. The set of 15 prints was the crowning achievement of Trouvelot's career, and The Huntington's set is one of the few complete ones that still exists of the estimated 300 portfolios published. It is part of the Jay T. Last Collection of Graphic Arts and Social History, which is an ongoing donation to The Huntington.

Out of the Woods: Celebrating Trees in Public Gardens

May 19–Aug. 27, 2018 | Brody Botanical Center, Flora-Legium Gallery

This juried show, organized through the New York Botanical Garden and the American Society of Botanical Artists, featured 45 botanical illustrations from botanical artists around the world.

June 16–Oct. 1, 2018 | Virginia Steele Scott Galleries of American Art

Showcasing about 25 works on paper selected from the recent gift of Moore's graphic art from the Philip and Muriel Berman Foundation, these lithographs explore the same universal themes found in the British artist's sculpture—the roots of creation, the body, life, and death. ## BOTANICAL SHOWS AND EVENTS

Botanical shows and events captivate audiences, as well as connect them to experts who can provide a deeper understanding of the science involved in cultivating plants and the ways they contribute to the environment. The year brimmed with activity that included:

ACQUISITION HIGHLIGHTS

Art

The Huntington's Art Collectors' Council purchased two panel paintings by Italian Renaissance master Cosimo Rosselli (1439–1507). Saint Ansanus and Saint Anthony Abbot, made about 1470, originally formed the lower third of an altarpiece, the centerpiece of which is The Huntington's own Madonna and Child in Glory, one of the core works in its Renaissance paintings collection. This was a rare opportunity to reunite figures from an altarpiece that was cut into seven sections and dispersed.

Also acquired by the Art Collectors' Council: The Open Sea, an 1865 watercolor by British Pre-Raphaelite artist John Brett (1831–1902). A delicate vision of water and air, The Open Sea displays the artist's skill at manipulating materials, as well as his deep knowledge of the ocean.

Library

A unique photograph album, purchased through the Library Collectors' Council, offers a glimpse into the intimate family circle of English naturalist Charles Darwin (1809–1882). The small carte-de-visite photograph album contains 19 albumen prints, including unpublished images of close family members and others in the 1870s.

The Library Collectors' Council also acquired the extensive manuscript collection of Henry Dundas, 1st Viscount Melville (1742–1811), who served as the United Kingdom's Home Secretary, Secretary of War, and First Lord of the Admiralty; and more than 120 letters, manuscripts, and documents related to James Francis Mercer (d. 1756), a British officer killed during the Seven Years' War while commanding Fort Oswego in New York. In addition, the Council acquired a letter by Italian explorer and Spanish naval officer Alejandro Malaspina (1754–1810), reporting to the viceroy of New Spain in 1790 on a scientific expedition he co-commanded across the Americas and the Pacific.

Notable purchases during the year:

- Brady's National Photographic Portrait Galleries, photographer. Pall Bearers of President Lincoln, 1865. Albumen photograph of members of Gen. Montgomery C. Meigs's Quartermaster General's Volunteer's division who were detached to carry Abraham Lincoln's coffin from the Washington, D.C., Capitol rotunda to the hearse.
- Captain Thomas Brown, A system of general ornithology, with coloured figures of all birds. Edinburgh, Oliver & Boyd, Tweeddale-Court; and John Murray, Albemarle-Street, London. 1827.
- Emanuel leabhar ina bhfuil modh iarrata [agus] fhagala fhoirbhtheachda na beathadh riaghaltha . . . [Louvain]: Ar na chur a ccló maille ré hughdadhás, [1616]. Irish translation of a Catalan religious work, with additions by the translator, Florence Conry, intended to support Irish Catholics facing religious persecution.
- Mercantile letter and account book of John Goddard recording correspondence addressed to merchants in the city of Albany, New York, and in Jamaica, ca. 1765–79.

RESEARCH

The Huntington's Research Division focuses principally on scholarship in the humanities, providing funding for long- and short-term fellowships, sponsoring lectures and conferences, publishing peer-reviewed books and articles, and related activities.

Research also takes place in the botanical arena, where staff botanists are confronting a variety of issues related to botanical pests, drought, and the overarching challenge of climate change (see p. 12).

Among the most exciting developments in research this year was the award of a $715,000 grant from the Fletcher Jones Foundation in support of The Huntington–UC Program for the Advancement of the Humanities through 2024. This innovative partnership creates early career faculty posts in humanities departments on the campuses of the University of California, in which assistant professors teach at a UC but spend two of their first five years conducting research at The Huntington. Following a successful pilot program with the University of California, Riverside, this exciting collaboration will now expand to three other UC campuses, in Irvine, Los Angeles, and San Diego, underscoring The Huntington's commitment to the principle that the humanities are essential elements of a well-rounded college education.

The Huntington's intellectual heft as a research center is further demonstrated by the record number of scholars admitted to the long-term research fellowship program this year. These 25, together with another 130 scholars in residence on short-term fellowships, received $1.8 million in grant support through the institution's competitive peer-review process. Scholars come to The Huntington both to begin research on their projects by working in the collections and to complete them by transforming their dissertation or draft into a scholarly monograph. They benefit enormously from working with each other and with curators, sharing their work in progress to further refine their thinking and writing. (See p. 11 for the complete list of long-term fellows.)

Scholarly research conducted in the collections also is disseminated through the wide array of public lectures in the humanities hosted annually. This year's program drew significant audiences to hear about topics that ranged from the legacy of Frankenstein to the origins of chop suey.

CONFERENCES

Each year, The Huntington hosts conferences featuring scholars and expert panelists from around the world.

The Huntington was the only humanities institution on the West Coast to host a program celebrating the 200th anniversary of the publication of Mary Shelley's most famous book, Frankenstein. The conference "Frankenstein Then and Now, 1818–2018" brought together scholars of literature, law, and film with scientists and playwrights to discuss the profound societal issues raised by the novel since its publication in 1818. Nobel-prize winning scientist and former Caltech president David Baltimore gave the keynote talk "The Frankenstein Challenge" to a packed Rothenberg Hall.

Two additional conferences explicitly looked to the past to help inform understanding of the present. Leading experts on the history of newspapers considered their invention, their appeal to sensation, their claim to objectivity, and their ongoing societal role in the conference "The Rise of the Newspaper in Europe and America, 1600–1900." The conference "First Light: The Astronomy Century in California, 1917–2017" was timed to celebrate the centenary of the Mount Wilson Observatory and paired historians and astronomers to explore changing understandings of the origins and expansion of the universe.

2017–18 Research conferences:

- "Early Modern Collections in Use" Convened by Elizabeth Eger, reader at King's College London, and Anne Goldgar, professor of early modern history at King's College London.

- "First Light: The Astronomy Century in California, 1917–2017" Convened by John Mulchaey, director of the Carnegie Observatories, and Dan Lewis, Dibner Senior Curator of the History of Science and Technology, The Huntington. Funded by Carnegie Observatories and The Huntington.
- "Globalizing the Protestant Reformation" Convened by Ulinka Rublack, professor in early modern European history at St. John's College, University of Cambridge.

award research fellowships and convene dozens of seminar meetings, lectures, and workshops throughout the year. Highlights of the busy year follow:

EMSI's annual conference, co-sponsored by the Getty Research Institute, was titled "Indigenous Knowledge and the Making of Colonial Latin America." Organized by Daniela Bleichmar, professor of art history and history at the University of Southern California, and Kim Richter, senior research specialist in the Director's Office at the Getty Research Institute, the event brought together an interdisciplinary group of scholars to explore the ways in which indigenous knowledge contributed to the making of colonial Latin America by examining practices related to art, architecture, science, medicine, governance, and the study of the past. The event was related to two exhibitions that showcased examples of work by indigenous artists and authors: "Golden Kingdoms: Luxury and Legacy in the Ancient Americas" at the Getty Center and "Visual Voyages: Images of Latin American Nature from Columbus to Darwin" at The Huntington, which formed part of Pacific Standard Time: LA/LA, an exploration of the past and present of Latin American and Latino Art, in which 70 cultural institutions in Southern California participated.

The EMSI Distinguished Lecturer for 2018, Annette Gordon Reed, the Charles Warren Professor of American Legal History at Harvard Law School and professor of history in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University, delivered a public lecture titled "American Democracy and its Discontents: History's Hold on the Present Moment."

The EMSI annual workshop with the William and Mary Quarterly, "Archives-based Digital Projects in Early America," was convened by Molly O'Hagan Hardy, director of the Library and Archives, Cape Ann Museum.

ICW released two books in the Western Histories series of the University of California Press: The Worlds of Junipero Serra: Historical Contexts and Cultural Representations, edited by Steven W. Hackel; and Braided Waters: Environment and Society in Molokai, Hawaii, by Wade Graham. ICW also supported the publication of Dan Johnson's The Skid Row Reader, an experimental adult literacy textbook.

ICW hosted "The Western Environment," a speaker series featuring cutting-edge scholarly works on the environmental history of the American West; "Migrant Letters," a symposium led by Huntington curators Clay Stalls and Li Wei Yang that explored letter-writing in California's Chinese and Mexican migration during the 20th-century; and "Over L.A.: Aerial Accounts" a day-long conference on everything above Los Angeles.

ICW Director William Deverell was elected to the Society of American Historians and became a trustee of the California Historical Society. He gave the opening address on "The Humanities" to a legislative hearing in Sacramento.

ICW continued its work with the Los Angeles Service Academy (LASA), introducing summer research fellowships to support student research proposals following their LASA year. ICW's summer teachers' institute, "Nature, California's Place, and the American Dream," offered in partnership with The Huntington's education division and Professor David Igler of the University of California, Irvine, doubled the number of teachers served in 2018.

From June 19 to July 14, 2017, The Huntington hosted the National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Seminar for Visual Voyages: Images of Latin American Nature from Columbus to Darwin, co-published by The Huntington and Yale University Press in 2017, is the lavishly illustrated catalog that accompanied the “Visual Voyages” exhibition, quickly selling out its print run. The book, by curator Daniela Bleichmar, associate professor of history and art history at the University of Southern California, is a tour de force, examining in exquisite detail visual depictions of the natural world, from the time of Christopher Columbus to Alexander von Humboldt and Charles Darwin. Created by natives of the region and visitors alike, the 150 maps, printed books, illustrated manuscripts, still lifes, and landscape paintings examined in Visual Voyages showcase how nature provided incentives for exploration, commodities for trade, specimens for scientific investigation, and manifestations of divine forces.

College and University Teachers on “The Formation and Re-formation of the Book: 1450–1650,” which investigated the construction, transmission, and reading of books during the late medieval and early modern eras. The seminar of 16 participants was led by John King, professor emeritus of English and religious studies at Ohio State University, and Mark Rankin, associate professor of English at James Madison University.

PUBLICATIONS

Responsibility for project management of The Huntington’s exhibition and collection catalogs shifted this year from the Art Collections to the Publications Department. The most recent of these, published in the spring, was Abundant Harvest: Selections from the Gail-Oxford Collection of American Decorative Arts at The Huntington. Major support for the publication was provided by the Victor Gail Trust.

Huntington publications continue to win prestigious awards: LACMA So Far, written by Suzanne Muchnic, won the Los Angeles Public Library’s John D. Bruckman Award for Excellence in a Book about Los Angeles. Gardens, Art, and Commerce in Chinese Woodblock Prints, written by June Li and Suzanne Wright, won second prize in the American Alliance of Museums’ Publications Design Competition. Heavy Ground: William Mulholland and the St. Francis Dam Disaster, written by Norris Hundley Jr. and Donald C. Jackson, was awarded the Sally Hacker Prize by the Society for the History of Technology.

Huntington Library Quarterly

The Huntington Library Quarterly, now in its 81st year, specializes in the early modern period, publishing research in areas strongly represented in the Library’s holdings. “William Blake’s Manuscripts,” a special issue based on a symposium held at The Huntington in 2013, was guest edited by Mark Crosby, associate professor of English at Kansas State University. An HLQ article on the early paintings of Thomas Cole won the Society of Architectural Historians’ Landscape History Chapter Essay Prize for 2018.

BOTANICAL DIVISION RESEARCH HIGHLIGHTS

Botanical staff continue to work diligently on a range of topics related to rare and endangered species. This year, The Huntington’s conservation scientists made considerable advances on their understanding of cycad populations, looking for new ways to examine the evolution and population dynamics of these ancient plants. In collaboration with scientists from UC Berkeley and Cornell University, their findings were slated to be published in the fall 2018 issue of the American Journal of Botany. Additionally, work is underway in the cryopreservation of avocado and magnolia tissue. Successful cryo-storage trials of cactus and agave seeds have opened exciting new options for long-term storage of these rare plants.

EDUCATION

Nurturing an appreciation of the arts, humanities, and botanical science is at the heart of all Huntington educational programming. Through school programs, teacher and volunteer training, and public education programming, The Huntington inspires lifelong learning in the diverse communities it serves. A highlight this year was a major award for an innovative program:

The California School Boards Association awarded the San Marino Unified School District its prestigious “Golden Bell Award” for its collaboration with The Huntington on a UC-approved honors humanities course. The program, which weaves The Huntington’s collections into the teaching of humanities for high school juniors and seniors, was one of 350 programs nominated across the state.

PARTNER SCHOOL: ESTEBAN E. TORRES HIGH SCHOOL

Gardening Club

This year’s garden club involved participation from some 100 students representing all five academies at the high school. To kick off the year, Huntington staff met with the school garden club advisers to define a plan together and outline objectives.

“Visual Voyages” Deep Learning Days

About 100 sixth-graders from the Charles W. Eliot Arts Magnet Academy in Pasadena and 75 eighth-graders from the Arroyo Seco Museum Science Magnet School in Los Angeles took part in daylong learning experiences at The Huntington inspired by the exhibition “Visual Voyages: Images of Latin American Nature from Columbus to Darwin.” Teachers familiarized students with the exhibition ahead of their visits through an online resource tool. On site, students participated in a special immersive program.

Students channeled their new knowledge and inspiration into art projects that included personal mapmaking and poetry. By using a collection of words taken from the exhibition labels and literature written in both English and Spanish, the students had the chance to compose dual-language, free-verse poems.

All the students then met to discuss which plants they wanted to grow. Throughout the year, the students worked with education and botanical staff to learn about composting, soil health, and constructing a raised garden bed.

Romeo and Juliet

A theater group of 40 students from the East Los Angeles Performing Arts Magnet at Torres High School performed Shakespeare’s Romeo and Juliet in Rothenberg Hall. The performance was the culmination of several visits to The Huntington, during which students met with educators, curators, and preservation staff. This is the first time the students had performed on stage.

TEACHER TRAINING

Huntington Voices Teacher Institute

Over the summer, 30 teachers participated in the first Huntington Voices teacher institute, spending a week on site to learn from education staff, curators, and others about how to use The Huntington’s collections to strengthen their student’s voices through writing, spoken language, performance, and visual and media arts. The program focuses on and celebrates diverse voices in the collections, exploring topics, including Shakespeare, artisans in the Chinese Garden, and the voices of early scientists.

Mount Vernon Regional Workshop

Huntington education staff collaborated with counterparts at the Mount Vernon historical site on a teacher training that focused on daily life in the time of George Washington. “Everyday Life in Early America” combined materials from the Jonathan and Karin Fielding Wing of the Virginia Steele Scott Galleries and Library items related to American art with Mount Vernon’s George Washington materials to offer teachers multiple perspectives of life during the nation’s founding days.

VOLUNTEERS

The Huntington depends on its more than 1,200 volunteers who offer their time and expertise in the Library, art galleries, and gardens. They provided nearly 60,000 hours of their time this year, worth nearly $1.2 million. More than 80 teen volunteers worked on regular weekly assignments across the grounds, including in the Huntington Art Gallery, Herb Garden, and Chinese Garden.

Docents participated in a two-day training session, working with curators and the senior paintings conservator, Christina O'Connell, to learn about Grand Manner portraiture and conservation. The sessions prepared docents to answer visitor questions about the "Project Blue Boy" exhibition.

Bonsai Curator Ted Matson trained nearly 100 volunteers to help with the cultivation and care of the growing bonsai collection.

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

A collaboration with the Pablove Foundation, a Los Angeles-based nonprofit dedicated to improving the lives of young cancer patients through the arts, brought 26 students, ages 14 to 21, to The Huntington as part of the foundation's Shutterbugs program. From September through March, students met with mentors in the gardens and galleries as they developed their creative voices through photography. A selection of their photographs was then put on temporary display in the Mapel Orientation Gallery.

The Huntington is committed to providing access, resources, and value to the wider, surrounding community. Partners in the community include the YMCA, Boys & Girls Club, Write Girls, A Place Called Home, UniLove Care for Special Needs, Esperanza Services, and others.

PUBLIC PROGRAMS FOR EVERY AGE OF LIFE- LONG LEARNER

The Huntington offers a robust slate of public programming for lifelong learners of all ages, from preschoolers to college students and adults. These educational opportunities span children's art classes, public lectures and book signings, in-depth academic classes, family festivals, documentary film screenings, docent-led tours, garden talks and tours, and plant sales.

Highlights during the year included:

A screening of The Chinese Exclusion Act, an award-winning documentary film, followed by a discussion led by Li Wei Yang, curator of The Huntington's Pacific Rim collections.

The "Huntington U" program offers college quality six-week seminar courses with lectures and lively discussions. Fall course offerings included "A History of Death," an examination of the history of death from Greek antiquity to the modern era, taught by Caltech professor Gideon Manning. In the spring, the course "Shakespeare & Co.," taught by Heidi Brayman, professor at UC Riverside, focused on Elizabethan plays chronicling the Hundred Years' War.

Authors who gave lectures and signed their books included Andrea Wulf, who explored the country's founding gardeners; Ronald White, biographer of Abraham Lincoln; and Lisa See, who discussed her novel, The Tea Girl of Hummingbird Lane.

Festivals included Shakespeare Family Day, the Harvest Moon Celebration, the Chinese New Year Festival, and Fiber Arts Day.

Botanical public programming included the popular Second Thursday Garden Talks and Plant Sale, which delved into diverse topics, such as: The Have-It-All, Low-Water Landscape; Sex in the Garden; The Power of Soil to Create Healthy Communities; Invasive Insects in an Era of Climate Change; Out of Africa: Pelargoniums for California Landscapes; and Remarkable Lichen: Biodiversity and Ecology in Southern California.

The Southern California Gardener Series explored topics ranging from backyard orchards to remarkable discoveries made during hummingbird rescues.

As part of the Saturday Ranch Open House, workshops covered topics including composting, container gardening, preserving food at home, and fruit tree grafting.

FINANCES

The Huntington experienced yet another exceptional year, its best ever with regard to earned revenue. Throughout the fiscal year, attendance substantially increased as the result of such popular attractions as the “Visual Voyages” exhibition, the Chinese New Year Festival, the spring bloom, and major holiday happenings.

Operating revenues exceeded operating expenses by nearly $900,000. Income from Membership was $1.43 million higher than the previous year, with Admissions income reaching an all-time high of $7.58 million, a 17-percent increase over the prior year. The Huntington Store generated a record $3.49 million in sales, exceeding prior year sales by $264,000, and contributing $780,000 in net income. To round out the top earned-revenue producers, food service commissions also reached an all-time high of $987,000, a 19-percent increase over the previous year. On the expense side, costs were kept within 1 percent of the budget, with all divisions working together, tightly controlling costs, and maintaining exceptional fiscal discipline.

The Huntington’s total net assets as of June 30, 2018, hit a new high of $692 million, up from FY17’s year-end balance of $669 million, as a result of increased cash, pledges, planned gifts, and endowment balances. The balance sheet continues to be very strong, with the growth of cash, short-term investments, planned gifts, and pledges. The fixed assets value decreased from $153 million to $142 million as a result of the depreciation of such structures as the Erburu Gallery expansion and the Education and Visitor Center; little was added to fixed asset structures or improvements this fiscal year.

The Huntington's endowment continued to have excellent performance results, generating 10.4 percent for the fiscal year, ranking in the top quartile of all Cambridge Associates endowments. The endowment also benefited from $5.7 million in new gifts made during the fiscal year. The great returns and new contributions propelled the endowment to an all-time high of $480.1 million as of June 30, 2018. The Huntington's investments outperformed their benchmarks in every asset class over the last three years, a testament to the great progress that has been made by the institution's Endowment Investment Committee to simplify and properly reallocate the portfolio investments for future growth. The endowment is a critical resource, representing 68 percent of the balance sheet and 43 percent of the total annual budget. Although the road ahead is always unpredictable, The Huntington's endowment is poised to begin its next 100 years with long-term asset preservation as one of its key competencies.

THE YEAR IN FUNDRAISING

Giving at The Huntington totaled a remarkable $33.7 million in gifts, grants, and realized bequests this year. Of this amount, $14.7 million supported the operating budget, a healthy six percent increase from the previous year, thanks in large part to a robust Membership program and the steadfast generosity of the Society of Fellows. Gifts strengthen every facet of the institution, from collections development to preservation, educational programming, special exhibitions, staffing, and much more.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

To the Board of Trustees of The Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of The Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery ("The Huntington"), which comprise the statement of financial position as of June 30, 2018, and the related statements of activities and changes in net assets, functional expenses, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's responsibility for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery as of June 30, 2018, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Other Matters

Report on 2017 Summarized Comparative Information

We have previously audited The Huntington's 2017 financial statements (not presented herein), and we expressed an unmodified audit opinion on those audited financial statements in our report dated November 15, 2017. In our opinion, the accompanying summarized comparative information as of and for the year ended June 30, 2017, is consistent, in all material respects, with the audited financial statements from which it has been derived.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. ORGANIZATION

The Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery ("The Huntington") is a California nonprofit charitable trust created in 1919 by Henry E. Huntington to promote and advance "learning, the arts and sciences, and to promote the public welfare; to render the books, manuscripts and other contents available to scholars and other persons engaged in research or creative work in history, literature, art, science and kindred subjects; to disseminate and contribute to the advancement of useful information and knowledge; ...and generally to conduct an institution of educational value to the public."

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP").

The Huntington reports information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets and permanently restricted net assets.

Unrestricted net assets – net assets that are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations. The Board of Trustees may elect to designate such net assets for specific purposes or to function as endowment. This designation may be removed at the Board's discretion.

Temporarily restricted net assets – net assets that are subject to donor-imposed stipulations that either expire by passage of time or can be fulfilled and removed by actions of The Huntington pursuant to these stipulations. As the restrictions are satisfied, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the accompanying financial statements as net assets released from restrictions. Donor-restricted contributions received and expended in the same reporting period may be recorded as unrestricted contribution.

Permanently restricted net assets – net assets that are subject to donor-imposed stipulations that must be maintained in perpetuity while permitting The Huntington to use or expend part or all of the income derived from the donated assets.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

All highly liquid investments with maturity of three months or less when purchased are considered to be cash equivalents. The Huntington maintains its cash and cash equivalents with major financial institutions. Accounts at these institutions are guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") up to $250,000 for each bank. The Huntington is exposed to credit risk for amounts held in excess of the FDIC limit. The Huntington does not anticipate nonperformance by these institutions.

Short-Term Investments

Short-term investments were comprised of money market mutual funds, short-term commercial papers and short-term treasury notes. The Huntington's short-term investments are measured at fair value using quoted prices that represent Level 1 inputs.

Inventories

Inventories are reported at the lower of cost or market on a first-in, first-out ("FIFO") basis and consist of items held by The Huntington Store and Huntington Library Press publications.

Investments

Investments were comprised of publicly and not publicly traded securities, real estate property, and life insurance contracts. Investments with a readily determinable market value are stated at fair value; hedge funds and limited partnerships are also stated at fair value. Other investments including real estate are stated at cost. Gains or losses and investment income on investments are reported in the statement of activities and changes in net assets as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets, unless their use is temporarily or permanently restricted by explicit donor stipulation. Interest and dividends are accrued as earned or declared.

Beneficial Interests in Trusts, Insurance, and Real Estate

Investments were comprised of publicly traded securities, investments held by third party trust, real estate property, and life insurance contracts. The Huntington has a beneficial interest in various split-interest agreements. Interests in the gift annuity fund, pooled income fund, and charitable remainder trusts are stated at fair value, with a corresponding liability for the present value of estimated future payments, using discount rates ranging from 2.2% to 9% and life expectancy tables, to the beneficiary(ies) other than The Huntington. A reserve account is maintained for the gift annuity fund in compliance with California Department of Insurance regulations. The Huntington is the beneficiary of life insurance policies with a cash surrender value. The Huntington is also a beneficiary of a one-sixth interest in an apartment building. The gains or losses and investment income on split-interest agreements are reported in the statement of changes in net assets as investment income. When The Huntington is named as trustee under the terms of a split-interest agreement, the agreement is recorded at the fair value of the trust on the date of the trust; a corresponding liability is recorded to recognize the present value of expected future cash flows to be paid to the beneficiary(ies). When The Huntington is not named as trustee under the terms of a split-interest agreement in which it has a beneficial interest, the agreement is recorded when The Huntington is notified of the beneficial interest and when the market value of the agreement can be readily ascertained.

Property and Equipment, Net

Property and equipment are recorded at cost or amounts assigned at date of gifts, less accumulated depreciation. The Huntington's policy is to capitalize property acquisitions of non-expendable items with a cost of over $10,000 and with a useful life of more than one year. Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the buildings and building improvements (10–30 years), equipment and vehicles (3–15 years), and land improvements (15–25 years).

Note Payable – Line of Credit

In October 2015, The Huntington entered into an unsecured line of credit with a Bank for $7 million. The line bears interest at LIBOR plus 0.45%, with an expiration date of September 2017. As of June 30, 2018, The Huntington had a zero balance on the line of credit. Interest paid during the year ended June 30, 2018, and 2017, was $8,872 and $12,214, respectively. Covenants on the line of credit require The Huntington to maintain unencumbered liquid assets of 200% of the total commitment with the bank, based on the investment account statements of The Huntington. The Huntington has renewed the line of credit through February 28, 2019, with the same terms mentioned above.

Asset Retirement Obligation

The Huntington records conditional asset retirement obligations consistent with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 410, Asset Retirement Obligations. Accrued asset retirement obligations, net of accumulated amortization, at June 30, 2018 and 2017 are $459,157 and $437,292, respectively.

Contributions and Grants

Unconditional contributions and grants are recorded as revenue when executed, and other contributions are recorded when received. The Huntington records gifts of cash and other assets as temporarily restricted contributions if they are received with stipulations from the donor that limit their use or are to be received in the future. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends, or purpose restriction is accomplished, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restriction.

Contributed Services

A substantial number of volunteers have donated significant amounts of time and services to The Huntington's program operations and to its fundraising campaigns. Contributed services are recognized by The Huntington if the services received (a) create or enhance long-lived assets or (b) require specialized skills, are provided by individuals possessing those skills, and would typically need to be purchased if not provided by donation.

The services donated by volunteers are not reflected in the accompanying financial statements as an expense or as income from donations; such services do not meet the above criteria for recording under GAAP.

Fees, Auxiliary Services, Sales, and Other Revenues

Fees, auxiliary services, sales, and other revenues include admissions, bookstore sales, publications sales, fees for reproducing Huntington images, commission fees from the food services provider, fees for filming on The Huntington property, and revenues from other supporting services.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses. While management believes that these estimates are adequate as of June 30, 2018, it is possible that actual results could differ from those estimates.

Impairment of Long-lived Assets

Management reviews each asset or asset group for impairment whenever events or circumstances indicate that the carrying value of an asset or asset group may not be recoverable. The review of recoverability is based on management's estimate of the undiscounted future cash flows that are expected to result from the asset's use and eventual disposition. If an impairment event exists due to the projected inability to recover the carrying value of an asset or asset group, an impairment loss is recognized to the extent that the carrying value exceeds estimated fair value. No impairment provision was recorded by The Huntington during fiscal year ended June 30, 2018.

Taxes

The Huntington follows guidance that clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in tax positions taken or expected to be taken in a tax return, including issues relating to financial statement recognition and measurement. This guidance provides that the tax effects from an uncertain tax position can only be recognized in the financial statements if the position is "more-likely-than-not" to be sustained if the position were to be challenged by a taxing authority. The assessment of the tax position is based solely on the technical merits of the position, without regard to the likelihood that the tax position may be challenged.

The Huntington is exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, though it is subject to tax on income unrelated to its exempt purpose, unless that income is otherwise excluded by the Code. The Huntington has also been recognized by the California Franchise Tax Board as exempt from California franchise and income taxes under Section 23701(d) of the California Revenue and Taxation Code. The Huntington has processes presently in place to ensure the maintenance of its tax-exempt status; to identify and report unrelated income; to determine its filing and tax obligations in jurisdictions for which it has nexus; and to identify and evaluate other matters that may be considered tax positions. The Huntington has determined that there are no material uncertain tax positions that require recognition or disclosure in the financial statements. There have been no material related tax penalties or interest, which would be classified as a tax expense in the statement of activities.

Functional Expense Reporting

The costs of providing program and supporting services have been summarized by function, based on estimates developed by management.

Prior Year's Summarized Financial Information

The financial statements include certain prior-year summarized information in total, but not by net asset class. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with GAAP in the United States of America. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with The Huntington's financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2017, from which the summarized information was derived.

For the prior year ended June 30, 2017, some transactions were reclassified to individual, corporate, and foundation contributions from fees, auxiliary services, sales, and other revenue, and from investment return used for operations, in the statement of activities and net changes in net assets. This reclassification had no effect on the statement of financial position or statement of activities and changes in net assets.

For the prior year ended June 30, 2017, Exhibits and programs has been reclassified as a program on the statement of functional expenses. This reclassification had no effect on the statement of financial position, statement of activities and changes in net assets, and statement of functional expenses.

Certain prior year endowment accounts have been reclassified to another net asset class on the statement of activities and changes in net assets. This reclassification had no effect on total net assets.

Certain prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current year presentation. Certain investments in the leveling table Note 4 have been reclassified from the level table to the NAV Category.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2015, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Accounting Standard Update ("ASU") 2015-07, Disclosures for Investments in Certain Entities That Calculate Net Asset Value per Share (or its Equivalent). The guidance specifically clarifies how investments valued using the net asset value ("NAV") practical expedient within the fair value hierarchy should be classified. The ASU was issued in order to address diversity in practice. The amended standard's key provision exempts investments measured using the ("NAV") practical expedient from categorization within the fair value hierarchy and related disclosures. The ASU was adopted in the current fiscal year resulting in certain investments being removed from leveling tables in Note 4.

In August 2015, the FASB issued ASU 2015-14, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606); Deferral of the Effective Date. The guidance defers the implementation date of ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606) to reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2019, for nonpublic entities. Management is evaluating the impact on The Huntington.

In August 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-14, Not-for-Profit Entities (Topic 958). The provisions of this ASU include a change from three classes of net assets to two, net assets with donor restrictions and net assets without donor restrictions. Certain enhanced disclosures are also required. The amendments in this update are effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2017, with early adoption permitted. Management is evaluating the impact on The Huntington.

3. POOLED INVESTMENTS

The investments of The Huntington include permanent endowments, funds established by the Board of Trustees to function as endowment, and other balances. Investment returns related to the assets of permanent endowments are classified depending on donor stipulation.

The Endowment Fund investments are managed on a total return basis to provide both income and capital appreciation. Under The Huntington's endowment spending policy, a spending rate is assessed against endowments that support unrestricted and certain temporarily restricted activities, consistent with an annual budget approved by the Board of Trustees. The spending policy allows the expenditure of a prudent amount of the total investment return over a period of time that preserves the future purchasing power of endowment principal. A spending rate of 5.00% of the preceding twelve-quarter average market value of Endowment Fund investments was appropriated to support current operations for the year ended June 30, 2018; 4.99% of the preceding twelve-quarter average market value of Endowment Fund investments was appropriated for the year ended June 30, 2017.

The following schedule summarizes the investment return in the pooled investments and investments from beneficial interest in trusts, insurance, and real estate:

4. FAIR VALUE OF INVESTMENTS

The Huntington accounts for its investments at fair value. ASC 820, Fair Value Measurements, defines fair value, establishes a framework used to measure fair value, and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. The standard prioritized, within the measurement of fair value, the use of market-based information over entity-specific information and established a three-level hierarchy for fair value measurement based on the transparency of information, such as the pricing source used in the valuation of an asset or liability as of the measurement date.

Investments measured and reported at fair value are classified and disclosed in one of the following categories:

- Level 1 – Quoted prices in active markets for identical investments as of the reporting date, without adjustment.
- Level 2 – Pricing inputs, including broker quotes, are generally those other than exchange-quoted prices in active markets, which are either directly or indirectly observable as of the reporting date, and fair value is determined through the use of models or other valuation methodologies.
- Level 3 – Pricing inputs are unobservable for the investment, and include situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the investment. Investments that are included in this category generally include privately held investments and securities held in partnership format.

The determination of where an asset or liability falls in the hierarchy requires significant judgment. The Huntington evaluates its hierarchy disclosures each reporting period and, based on various factors, it is possible that an asset or liability may be classified differently from period to period. However, The Huntington expects that changes in classifications between different levels will be rare.

The Huntington's valuation methodologies used for alternative investments measured at fair value are based on net asset value ("NAV") of shares held by The Huntington at fiscal year-end. There have been no changes in the methodologies used at June 30, 2018. The preceding method described may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, although The Huntington believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

The following table summarizes the valuation of The Huntington's investments by the ASC 820 fair value hierarchy levels as of June 30:

	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Investments Measured at NAV	2018 Total	2017 Total
Short-term Investments	$ 40,237,144	$ -	$ -	$ -	$ 40,237,144	$ 33,731,598

Total investments as of June 30, 2018 and 2017 amounted to $453,615,987 and $438,850,112, respectively, which include the investments in the table above and accrued interest and dividends amounting to $178,681 and $153,646, respectively.

The following table includes a roll-forward of the amounts for the year ended June 30, 2018 for the investments classified within Level 3. The classification of an investment within Level 3 is based upon the significance of the unobservable inputs to the overall fair value measurement.

Fair value measurements using significant unobservable inputs (Level 3):

	Beneficial Interests in Trusts, Insurance, and Real Estate
Beginning Balance June 30, 2017	$ 8,410,620
Total gains or losses
Net realized and gains	385,355
Net realized and unrealized appreciation	54,156
Purchases	-
Sales	(1,517,944)
Ending Balance June 30, 2018	$ 7,332,187

The Huntington uses the NAV to determine the fair value of all the underlying investments which (a) do not have a readily determinable fair value and (b) to prepare their financial statements consistent with the measurement principles of an investment company or which have the attributes of an investment company. Per Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2009-12, the following table lists investment in other investment companies (in partnership format) by major category:

Category	Strategy	NAV in Funds	# of Funds	Remaining Life	$ Amount of Unfunded Commitments	Timing to Draw Down Commitments	Redemption Terms	Redemption Restrictions
Marketable alternative investments	Investments with managers who use alternative strategies, including hedging, to provide returns with reduced volatility compared to the equity and bond markets	$ 44,502,610	10	NA	$ 3,600,000	NA	7 funds 45-90 day notice, annual only; 7 funds 30-90 day notice, calendar quarter-end; 3 are other time periods	3 funds have side pockets; 1 fund has lock-up 6 months; 1 fund has ongoing soft lock-up; 3 have redemption gates 10%-33%
Non-marketable alternative investments	Illiquid investments in privately held companies which are expected to produce returns in excess of traditional equities	$ 80,546,003	45	1-13 years	$ 42,140,659	12 funds, commitment period has expired; remaining funds range from 1-13 years	NA	3-13 year lockup, with 2-4 years extension

5. GRANTS AND CONTRIBUTIONS RECEIVABLE

Unconditional promises to give are included in the financial statements as grants and contributions receivable, and revenue is recorded in the appropriate net asset category. Certain promises to give are recorded after discounting, at a rate between 1% and 9.5% at June 30, 2018, at the present value of the future cash flows. As of June 30, unconditional promises to give are expected to be realized in the following periods:

	June 30,
	2018	2017
Amounts due in
Less than one year	$ 4,722,746	$ 5,936,523
One to five years	14,924,403	6,699,000
More than five years	2,000,000	7,401,500
Less: Discount	(4,669,443)	(4,063,298)
	$ 16,977,706	$ 15,973,725

6. ENDOWMENTS

The Huntington's endowment consists of 262 individual donor-restricted endowment funds. The net assets associated with endowment funds are classified and reported based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions.

The Board of Trustees of The Huntington has interpreted the California Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act ("UPMIFA") as requiring the preservation of the original gift as of the gift date of the donor-restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulations to the contrary. As a result of this interpretation, The Huntington classifies as permanently restricted net assets (a) the original value of the gifts donated to the permanent endowment, (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to the permanent endowment, and (c) accumulations to the permanent endowment made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument at the time the accumulation is added to the fund.

The remaining portion of the donor-restricted endowment fund that is not classified in permanently restricted net assets is classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by The Huntington in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by UPMIFA. In accordance with UPMIFA, the following factors are to be considered in making a determination to appropriate or accumulate endowment funds:

- The duration and preservation of the fund.
- The purposes of the organization and the donor-restricted endowment fund.
- General economic conditions.
- The possible effect of inflation and deflation.
- The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments.
- Other resources of the organization.
- The investment policies of the organization.

The following table presents The Huntington's endowment composition, and net asset classification as of June 30, 2018:

The collections are subject to a policy that requires proceeds from deaccessioning to be used to acquire other items for collections.
